

Southern Oregon Continuous Gutters Inc Company and Local Market Brief

Executive summary

Southern Oregon Continuous Gutters Inc. is a long-running Medford-area gutter contractor with a public record trail going back to 1990 and an Oregon corporation registration dating to January 7, 1998. Public records and business profiles consistently connect the company to Paul Chitwood; BBB lists Mr. Paul Chitwood as President, while a CCB-synched contractor profile lists the Responsible Managing Individual as Paul Laurence Chitwood. The Oregon CCB-synched profile shows license #64538 as Active through February 27, 2028 under the Residential General Contractor endorsement. ¹

The contact picture is usable, but not perfectly clean. The public-facing company phone that appears repeatedly in BBB and CCB-synched sources is (541) 770-5785. The number you provided, (541) 821-4258, appears in an older third-party contractor list under "Paul Chitwood / Continuous Gutters," so it may be a direct mobile or older alternate number rather than the main published business line. Address records also conflict: Oregon business-registry/open-data and review listings point to 32 Black Oak Dr, Medford, OR 97504, while BBB and CCB-synched sources use PO Box 1566, Medford, OR 97501. For a public website, the safer choice is to use the public company line and either the PO Box or simply Medford / Southern Oregon unless Paul explicitly wants a street address on the site. ²

Public online presence is thin but real. A Facebook page exists and describes the business as a locally owned Southern Oregon gutter company specializing in installation, repair, and maintenance. A Google Business Profile appears to exist indirectly through review aggregators, but the current website situation is unclear: Birdeye references southernoregoncontinuousgutters.com, while a CCB-synched profile says "No web." The review footprint is small and mixed, with public praise for price, quality, and finished appearance, but repeated complaints about communication and scheduling. That communication gap is the single biggest risk to address in the new site and lead-handling workflow. ³

The local market supports a gutter-focused premium site. Medford's official 1991–2020 climate normals show about 18.43 inches of annual precipitation, with December the wettest month and August essentially dry, which fits Southern Oregon's strong wet-winter / dry-summer pattern. Gutters and downspouts are generally treated as permit-exempt maintenance in Oregon and Jackson County, but buried drainage tie-ins or stormwater disposal can trigger local plumbing or stormwater requirements, especially where runoff must connect to city infrastructure. For website messaging, the strongest local angle is not generic "rain gutters," but roofline water control for Southern Oregon homes: runoff management, fascia/siding/foundation protection, leaf debris, custom-fit seamless systems, and local owner-operated service. ⁴

Verified business profile

The table below separates what is verifiable now from what should be confirmed with the client before launch.

Field	Finding	Verification status	Notes for the website
Legal business name	Southern Oregon Continuous Gutters, Inc.	Verified	Oregon open-data registry snippet and BBB both use the incorporated name. ⁵
Owner / operator	Paul Chitwood	Verified	BBB lists Mr. Paul Chitwood, President ; CCB-synced profile lists Paul Laurence Chitwood as RMI. ⁶
Public company phone	(541) 770-5785	Verified	Repeats across BBB and CCB-synced records; strongest candidate for the public “Call now” CTA. ⁷
Alternate / direct number	(541) 821-4258	Partially verified	Appears in an older contractor list under Paul Chitwood / Continuous Gutters; not the primary number in current public business records. Use only if Paul explicitly approves. ⁸
Fax	(541) 772-6166	Verified	Present in the CCB-synced profile. ⁹
Mailing address	PO Box 1566, Medford, OR 97501	Verified	Appears in BBB, historical OSHA pages, and CCB-synced profile. ¹⁰
Street / principal business address	32 Black Oak Dr, Medford, OR 97504	Verified with caution	Appears in Oregon open-data registry snippet and review listings. Because it may be residential, confirm before publishing it prominently. ¹¹
Service area	Southern Oregon	Verified at high level	Facebook says Southern Oregon; CCB-synced profile points to Jackson County / local area. Exact city list is unspecified publicly. ¹²
Email	unspecified	Not publicly verified	No reliable public business email surfaced in accessible sources during this research.
Hours	inconsistent public listings	Partially verified	CCB-synced profile shows Mon–Fri 8:00 AM–5:00 PM ; Birdeye shows Mon–Wed/Fri 8:00 AM–4:00 PM, Thu closed . Confirm with Paul before publishing. ¹³

Field	Finding	Verification status	Notes for the website
Official website	status unspecified / unverified	Conflicting	Birdeye references southernoregoncontinuousgutters.com ; CCB-synced profile says No web . Treat the old domain as legacy / unverified unless Paul confirms. ¹⁴
Facebook	Public page present	Verified	Existing page can be reused or refreshed if ownership access exists. ¹⁵
Google Business Profile	Appears to exist	Indirectly verified	Review aggregators mirror Google reviews and hours, but a direct accessible GBP URL did not surface in research. ¹⁴
BBB profile	Present, not accredited , rating A+	Verified	Good trust badge only if presented carefully: "BBB profile available," not "BBB accredited." ¹⁶
Instagram	unspecified	Not publicly verified	Confirm with client.
Yelp	unspecified	Not publicly verified	Confirm with client.
Nextdoor	unspecified	Not publicly verified	Confirm with client.
Corporation type	Domestic Business Corporation	Verified	Oregon open-data registry snippet. ¹⁷
Incorporation date	January 7, 1998	Verified	Oregon open-data and BBB match. ⁵
Business start / licensing history	Since 1990	Verified	BBB says business started locally June 1, 1990; CCB-synced profile says first registered June 6, 1990. ⁶
CCB license	#64538 Active	Verified	Active through Feb. 27, 2028. ⁹
Bond / insurance	Bond and liability insurance shown as current on CCB-synced profile	Verified with caution	CCB policy requires both; secondary profile shows $25K bond and $1M liability insurance . Ask Paul for current COI and bond proof for the site trust section. ¹⁸

The biggest practical discrepancy is the phone number. For conversion and credibility, the site should default to (541) 770-5785 because that is the number repeated in current public business records. If Paul wants (541) 821-4258 displayed, treat it as an intentional owner-approved direct line and make sure it matches the Google Business Profile before launch. ¹⁹

The biggest privacy issue is the street address. Because 32 Black Oak Dr appears in public records yet may be a home address, it is better to avoid putting that address in large type in the hero/footer unless Paul specifically requests it. Using Medford, OR or the PO Box plus a service-area statement is safer and still strong for local SEO. ²⁰

Services, product assumptions, service area, and pricing cues

Public descriptions of Southern Oregon Continuous Gutters are simple and consistent: the business is described as handling gutter installation, replacement, repair, and maintenance. That is enough to support a clean core services architecture on the new site even before Paul supplies a fuller product list. ¹²

What is not publicly specified for this company is the deeper product catalog. Public SOCG sources do not clearly confirm which materials, profiles, sizes, color ranges, guard brands, or downspout sizes Paul offers. For the website brief, the safest approach is to separate verified company services from market-standard local options to confirm with the client. Southern Oregon competitors commonly advertise seamless / continuous gutters, leaf protection, drip edge, residential and commercial work, and materials such as aluminum, steel, and copper. Some explicitly market 5K, 6K, and fascia gutter profiles. ²¹

That gives you a useful client-confirmation list for Paul:

Product dimension	What the local market commonly offers	Recommendation for SOCG website
Core system type	Seamless / continuous gutters are the dominant premium offer locally. ²²	Safe to position SOCG around "custom-fit continuous / seamless gutters."
Materials	Aluminum, steel, and copper appear in local competitor positioning; one local roofer also lists vinyl and wood. ²³	Publish only materials Paul actually installs; aluminum is the most likely lead offer.
Profiles / sizes	Men of Steel publicly markets 5K, 6K, and fascia gutter systems. ²⁴	Ask Paul whether he installs 5-inch K-style, 6-inch K-style , and/or fascia systems.
Guards / leaf protection	Multiple locals market leaf protection, guards, or screens. ²⁵	Add a "Gutter protection options" section if Paul offers them.
Downspouts	Local market pages stress proper water discharge and overflow control. ²⁶	Confirm whether SOCG offers 2x3, 3x4 , splash blocks, extensions, or buried drain tie-ins.

Product dimension	What the local market commonly offers	Recommendation for SOCG website
Additional services	Clean-outs, repairs, drip edge, and commercial systems are common. ²⁷	Good upsells or supporting service blocks if Paul performs them routinely.

Publicly, SOCG says Southern Oregon and the CCB-synced record places the business in Jackson County / Medford. That supports a website structure centered on Medford and the Rogue Valley, with expansion city pages added only after Paul confirms his actual travel radius. For SEO planning, the most natural city cluster is Medford, Ashland, Central Point, Eagle Point, Jacksonville, Talent, Phoenix, White City, Rogue River, Shady Cove, and possibly Grants Pass / Josephine County if he actively works there. That city pattern is consistent with how local competitors frame “Southern Oregon” coverage. ²⁸

Pricing should be handled carefully. I would not put hard prices on the public site unless Paul wants that strategy. Instead, use “Free on-site estimate” language and reserve ballparks for the internal client brief. National and regional pricing sources suggest these rough ranges:

Item	Ballpark range	Notes
Installed seamless gutters	About $6.29–$10.45 per linear foot as a Homewyse baseline; broader national ranges commonly extend higher depending on material and complexity. ²⁹	Good planning range for aluminum jobs; complex roofs and premium materials run higher.
Full seamless-gutter project	Often around $1,149–$1,873 in one 2026 national guide, $650–$1,700 in another, while broader “complete system” estimates can go well above that depending on home size. ³⁰	Use internally as orientation only, not as a quoted promise.
Seamless aluminum full system in Oregon regional guide	Roughly $2,000–$2,800 average for a typical Portland-area home; many full systems in that guide fall around $1,200–$3,500 . ³¹	Helpful regional cue, but not Medford-specific.
Gutter guards	Commonly $15–$45 per linear foot installed . ³²	Strong upsell, but can materially increase total project cost.
Downspouts	About $30–$75 each installed , or roughly $6.50–$22.25 per linear foot depending on type and complexity. ³³	Useful for quote calculators and internal sales scripts.
Upgrade from 5-inch to 6-inch	Commonly around $0.50–$1.00 more per linear foot . ³⁴	Particularly relevant for steeper or higher-volume roof planes.

For the website copy, the smartest pricing language is something like: “Custom-fit pricing depends on roofline complexity, total footage, downspouts, and protection options. Request a free on-site quote.” That stays accurate while avoiding commodity pricing traps.

Online presence and reputation

The public digital footprint is narrow, which is actually an opportunity. There is a real but lightweight Facebook presence, a BBB profile, and what appears to be a Google Business Profile mirrored through Birdeye and CCB-linked data. Because the legacy website status is unclear, the new site can become the first truly coherent, conversion-ready digital hub for the company. ³⁵

The review picture is mixed and small-sample. The accessible Birdeye/Google mirror shows 5 reviews with a 2.6 average, and the excerpts split sharply by theme: positive reviewers praise price, quality, finished appearance, and being “professional”; negative reviewers repeatedly cite poor communication, missed scheduling expectations, and not being proactively updated. A CCB-synced profile separately reports Google verified and a smaller 3/5 review footprint, which suggests the profile data may be changing over time or aggregators may be out of sync. ¹⁴

That means the new site should not just “look premium.” It should visibly solve the trust problem. The most persuasive trust copy is not hype; it is operational clarity. Put these promises in plain sight:

- Owner-operated local service
- Straightforward on-site estimates
- Clear scheduling communication
- Prompt callback policy
- Written quote with scope and drainage plan
- Active CCB license / insured / bonded documentation on request

That messaging directly addresses what public reviewers say they wanted but did not consistently receive.

³⁶

Local market conditions and code context

Southern Oregon’s climate makes gutter messaging easy to localize. Official Medford climate normals show 18.43 inches of annual precipitation, with December the wettest month and August effectively dry. A general weather summary for the Medford airport area also shows a long rainy season that runs from early fall through late spring. In practical homeowner language, that means the market cares less about “all-year rain” and more about winter storm runoff, overflow events, leaf debris, clogged outlets, splash-back, and foundation protection during the wet season. ³⁷

Roof and exterior conditions in the Medford / Rogue Valley market also matter. Local suppliers and roofers in the area advertise products for asphalt shingles, metal roofing, clay / concrete tile, cedar shakes / shingles, and low-slope commercial systems. For gutter positioning, that means the site should mention compatibility with asphalt, metal, and tile rooflines and should visually show a variety of housetypes, not just one suburban roof form. ³⁸

The permitting picture is favorable for homeowner conversion. Jackson County explicitly lists installing gutters and downspouts among projects that do not require a permit, though it notes a plumbing permit may still be required for stormwater disposal. Oregon's Building Codes Division likewise lists rain gutters and downspouts among plumbing items that do not require a permit when repaired or replaced. That supports a low-friction sales message for standard gutter jobs. ³⁹

The important nuance is drainage. Ashland's building policy explains that an approved roof-drain system can include gutters, downspout leaders, and underground piping connected to the city stormwater system, and the Oregon residential code requires lot drainage away from foundations. So if a project includes buried leaders, stormwater tie-ins, or drainage modifications rather than simple gutter replacement, the site should avoid blanket "no permit needed" wording and instead say something like: "Most gutter replacements are straightforward; if your job includes drainage tie-ins, we'll help identify any local requirements." ⁴⁰

Competitor landscape

The Southern Oregon gutter market is active and already segmented. Some competitors position around sheer category scale, some around specialty profiles, some around communication and reviews, and some around roofing + gutters as a bundled service. The best move for SOCG is to occupy a more focused niche: established local owner-operator, seamless gutter specialist, deeply familiar with Southern Oregon rooflines and runoff, premium but plain-spoken.

Competitor	Public positioning	Notable strengths	Opportunity for SOCG
Medford Elite Gutters	"Southern Oregon's largest gutter company," residential + commercial, maintenance, leaf protection, drip edge; public email and social links available. ⁴¹	Strong modern website, polished reviews, communication-forward copy, broad services. ⁴¹	SOCG should not try to beat them on "largest." Instead: older local tenure, owner-led expertise, custom-fit focus.
Gutt-R-Done Gutters	"Seamless rain gutters protecting Rogue Valley homes," serving all of Southern Oregon, licensed/bonded/insured. ⁴²	Strong seamless-specific framing and testimonial emphasis. ⁴²	SOCG can differentiate with stronger design, proof docs, and a clearer premium brand story.
Britt Gutters	Medford + Ashland, seamless continuous gutters, cleaning, repairs, screens, multiple colors; locally owned. ⁴³	Clear geographic focus and straightforward homeowner messaging. ⁴³	SOCG can out-position on visual polish, trust proof, and owner/operator personality.
Men of Steel Gutters	Southern Oregon gutter company marketing 5K, 6K, fascia gutters , gutter guards, and broad Rogue Valley coverage. ²⁴	Product-specific positioning and broader system language. ²⁴	SOCG should confirm its own profile/size offerings so it does not look less technical by comparison.
Rogue Valley Roofing	Full roofing company that also offers gutter installation and repair, with broad materials language. ⁴⁴	Cross-sells gutters from a roofing base; strong established roofing brand. ⁴⁴	SOCG should lean into being a dedicated gutter specialist rather than a general roofer add-on.
DJB Continuous Gutters	Southern Oregon gutter installation and repair; licensed, bonded, insured; estimate-focused. ⁴⁵	Category-specific naming and straightforward service pitch. ⁴⁵	SOCG can beat commodity feel with stronger local tenure, richer visuals, and better narrative.

The clearest competitive gap is brand seriousness plus communication confidence. Several competitors already have clearer websites than SOCG's public footprint. Your cinematic site can be a real advantage if it remains grounded in practical homeowner trust: scheduling clarity, visible proof, familiar local weather risks, and direct access to Paul. ⁴⁶

Website content and SEO recommendations

The site should be organized around verified facts first, then localized search demand. Because the public service-area list is not fully verified for SOCG, your SEO plan should start with Medford / Jackson County / Rogue Valley and expand only after Paul confirms where he actually bids work. Public competitor patterns strongly support Rogue Valley city targeting, especially Medford, Ashland, Central Point, Eagle Point, Jacksonville, Talent, Phoenix, White City, and Grants Pass. 47

Production assets, trust elements, lead workflow, and next actions

The site needs real-world proof more than it needs more adjectives. Because the public review footprint is small and mixed, the visual and document layer matters a lot: truck photos, install photos, before/after work, machine/equipment images, and scanned proof of license / insurance / bond will all raise trust faster than abstract claims will. Public records already support using since 1990, owner-operated, CCB #64538, and Medford / Southern Oregon as core trust anchors. ⁴⁹

Recommended trust elements to include on the site:

- Owner / operator: Paul Chitwood
- Active Oregon CCB license #64538
- Serving Southern Oregon
- Since 1990
- Insured and bonded
- Real project photography
- Real customer reviews
- Clear callback / scheduling promise
- Written estimate language
- Click-to-call phone CTA

The lead form should be built to reduce back-and-forth and to fix the public communication weakness visible in reviews. Recommended fields: name, phone, email, service address, city, property type, service needed, brief project description, preferred contact method, preferred callback window, existing issue type, file/photo upload if possible, and consent to contact. Add a hidden honeypot field and a lightweight anti-spam check. Because phone is critical in contractor workflows, make phone required, and consider making email optional if Paul prefers calls first. ³⁶

Recommended lead-handling workflow:

1. The form sends an instant acknowledgment by text/email: “We received your request.”
2. During business hours, call-back target should be within 15–30 minutes; after hours, next business morning.
3. Every lead gets a status tag: new, contacted, scheduled, quoted, won, lost.
4. The quote template should include roofline footage assumptions, downspouts, guard options, color/material notes, and drainage notes.
5. After completion, send a short review request to Google/Facebook.

That workflow is not generic polish; it directly answers the complaint pattern in the public reviews. ³⁶

Recommended asset checklist:

Asset	Why you need it	Priority	Status
Logo files	Header, favicon, truck/brand consistency	High	Request
Best 10–20 completed-job photos	Gallery, service proof, hero/background textures	High	Request
Before / after photos	Strongest conversion content for gutters	High	Request
Truck / trailer / equipment photos	Legitimacy and local personality	High	Request
Gutter machine / on-site forming photos	Supports “custom fit on site” messaging	High	Request
Owner portrait of Paul	Trust, about section, CTA block	High	Request
Proof of CCB / insurance / bond	Trust section and footer/legal reassurance	High	Request
Testimonials / review screenshots	Reputation proof	High	Request
Service area confirmation list	Needed for location pages and schema	High	Request
Preferred business email	Contact page, form routing, schema	High	Request
Hours of operation	Needed because public listings conflict	High	Request
Material / profile / color list	Needed for accurate services pages	Medium	Request
Warranty details	Only if documented and approved	Medium	Request
Payment methods / financing info	Quote CTA support	Medium	Request

Recommended asset collection priority

The highest-priority next steps are straightforward. First, confirm the public phone, preferred address display, hours, email, and true service area. Second, collect the visual and document assets above. Third, verify whether the old domain and any Google / Facebook ownership logins are accessible. Fourth, confirm the actual product menu Paul wants sold on the site: 5-inch vs. 6-inch, fascia options, guards, downspout sizes, colors, clean-outs, and commercial work. Fifth, build the launch site around clarity, proof, and responsiveness, not around generic contractor copy. Those are the moves most likely to raise both conversion and trust. ⁵⁰
